

1) Interdisciplinary teaching represents:

a) A traditional way of teaching

b) An organization and planning of the teaching that brings together the thematic units, which are usually taught separately

c) A teacher-centered teaching method

d) A student-centered teaching method

2) One of the most important reasons for endorsing an interdisciplinary approach is:

a) The in-depth exploration of a subject

b) The superficial learning of facts

c) The slower retrieval of information

d) The improved way of presenting information about the subject

3) The interdisciplinary teaching is associated with:

a) Lower motivation to learn

b) Passive learning

c) Active learning

d) Lower academic performance

4) Interdisciplinary teaching provides teachers with opportunities to use:

a) Use teaching time more efficiently

b) Establish a lifelong learning model of teaching

c) Increase students' academic performance

d) All of the above

5) With respect to interdisciplinary teaching:

a) There are more concerns than advantages

b) The advantages overwhelm the criticisms

c) The academic community has not reached a definite conclusion

d) There is still a debate on its effectiveness